Take Time to Be a Couple

Choose at least one of the following suggestions and complete the assignment before you meet for the next session.

- Use the space below and compose a prayer that incorporates a new understanding of the biblical perspective on marriage and what that means to your relationship. Could it be printed, framed, and hung in a prominent place in your home?

- Enhance the covenantal aspect (shared story) of your relationship by finding a creative way to review and reenact the events that brought you together.

- Engage your spouse in a Strength Bombardment exercise:
  - Tell your husband or wife what you most admire about who he/she has become.
  - Tell your husband or wife what you most appreciate about what he/she does to “complete” you.

- Choose one (or more) of the responsibilities your spouse does routinely, and do that responsibility for the next month.

- Pray for and with one another daily.
